

~~Friday~~ Friday 2nd Jan.

8.15 am - ~~the~~ Start of movement (+ sounds of washing up!) from kitchen - how 'eccentric'!

Seeing as how I'm off today - with Andy and Paul - I kind of feel obliged to write a little something seeing as how I'm the only fresher here. Can honestly say that I've had a fantastic time over the past few days - despite the odd scary DOG at times and loads more scary conversations. Memories will stay - not yet sure if good or bad - but not sure if I will return next year. Persuasion may be necessary and bribery with alcohol will always work. Almost wish I was staying the extra night but am quite looking forward to a vaguely decent night's sleep and going to bed before 2am. Obviously, haven't yet had enough practice either way, just want to say ta to the DOGS for all. — Helen.

Halleluiah! A proper pen! We went off on a "pub-crawl walk" which was intended to take in 3 notable Dartmoor pubs. Alas, the first place (Chalacombe Medieval village) had either lost its pub, or we'd been led astray by name-similarity with other random place. Never mind! Walk was ~~was~~ delivered anyway as (Mike, Mc Mad, Becca & Maria) not only by the picture presented by the sight of Ian Dominic & Sarah forming an almost perfect diagonal line (as I had a John Cleese & 2 Ronnies line up). This was then turned
